Library management system based on c++ by suraj kumar

This project was created on visual studio code IDE using c++.

After running the code you will be asked to enter a few passwords.

- Library password– lib

- Administrator password– adm

This project does not need any special requirements to run the code. This will be run in a simple windows application.